

Your invitation to the listed property event of the year

THE LISTED PROPERTY SHOW

In association with

The Daily Telegraph

OLYMPIA LONDON

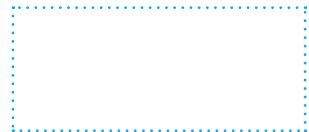

18 -19 February 2012

Saturday 10am – 5pm

Sunday 10am – 4pm

Your complimentary ticket to the Listed Property Show
Admits two. Worth £20

THE LISTED PROPERTY SHOW

In association with

The Daily Telegraph

18 - 19 February 2012

As we all know, owning a listed property is not always health, wealth and happiness. Legislation, conservation and regulation can seem like the three horsemen of the listed property owner's apocalypse. Just finding a decent builder or understanding the VAT rules is enough to give you sleepless nights.

The Listed Property Show is a free event for select listed property owners, designed to banish all your domestic nightmares and ensure another 12 months of healthy home-ownership. For February 2012 we've brought together the industry's best, all under one glorious roof in London's Olympia.

Please complete the details in block capitals to validate this ticket and bring it along to the Listed Property Show in Olympia.

The ticket admits two visitors.
Children are free of charge.

There's no other event like it. It's a unique opportunity for a stress free one-to-one session with working conservation officers who will happily talk you through any hypothetical plans that you may have about altering or extending your home. Alongside these officers are very experienced architects and planners, window and door manufacturers, craftsmen, and "caring" builders as well as the rather more prosaic experts in fire protection or insurance. We've got them all in one place for just two days in Central London.

For more information go to www.lpoc.co.uk or call 01795 844939

Your Name:

Your Address:

Postcode:

Telephone:

Email: